Course Prerequisites
This course is designed for the beginner level Chinese learners, who have had two college semesters of Chinese or at least is at the Novice-Mid level according to ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines.

Methods of Instruction
The leading methods applied in this course is Communicative Language Teaching, embedding students into real-life and meaningful conversations, and using the learning materials updated with student’s daily life. The teaching approaches and activities is designed to promote teacher-student interaction in order to lead the students have real communication in Chinese. Most of the class hours are organized to have students speaking and listening with the help of on-line multimedia courseware, pictures, videos. Different types of stimulus are carefully arranged into class to meet needs of different learning styles. Assignments after class is facilitated as writing practices. Other teaching methods are utilized based on learning objectives, such as audiolingual methods applied at the first stage of structure practice, TPR used for learning certain vocabularies.

The 4 meetings per week is split into two parts: two times of 100 minutes group class and one 40-minute tutoring/discussion/presentation.

The 100 minutes group class is mainly focus on content of textbook, including vocabularies and grammar structures. Students are expected to learn by the guidance given by instructor and to have topic and structure controlled language practice. Correct out-put is highlighted in the 4 hours meeting.

The 40 minutes tutoring/discussion/presentation offers opportunity of “free speech”, talking about topics students interested in, correcting pronunciation, or solving questions students met during the week study. Though students are encouraging to express freely, instructor will mark down any error/mistake during the conversation and give feedback to students in the end of the meeting.

N.B. Course schedule is subject to change due to study tours, excursions, or local holidays. Final schedules will be included in the final syllabus provided to students on site.

Course Requirements

Homework

Homework, which is assigned daily, includes finishing the workbook or prepare a short oral presentation. Students should spend approximate one and half hours to two hours on homework and previewing. Homework is accepted up to three days after deadline and 0.3 percentage point off for each day. Missing a homework will lead to 1 percent off final grades.

Tutoring Performance

Tutoring on Friday is 15% of final grade. Students are expected to bring topics or questions to instructor. In this free conversation, making errors will not make students loss grade point but no or poor preparation before the meeting will. The instructor evaluates students’ performance according to their contribution to the conversation and willingness of using vocabularies and structures learnt in the week.

Mid-term Exam
Mid-term exam is on the eighth week and final exam is on the fifteenth week. Both of the exams consist of a listening and speaking exam, 15% of final grade, and a reading and writing exam, 10% of final grade.

The listening and speaking exam requests students to finish 2 conversations with the teacher and 2 independent presentations in 45 minutes. Student will be given topics ahead of the exam for preparation. Students are expected to collect information from teacher, to share information precisely, and to address personal viewpoint properly with correct pronunciation and tones, phrases and sentences, and communication strategies.

The reading and writing exam request student to complete writing tasks based on reading 2 written texts, and to complete a functional/paragraph writing based on a given topic in 1 hour. Exam time length can be accommodated for special needs. Students are expected to understand information or ideas in the text, and to write readable characters in the right form and coherently sentences with right grammar structure.
